Hot advocates of woman suffrage are not weather is coming and with it colic, cholera willing to trust the intelligence of the voters of the state, as a mass, they display a knowledge of the weakness of their cause, which should condemn it effectually. The means of educating the public mind up to their ideas, as they are fond of putting it, are easily within their reach, and can be inexpensively employed. The argument adpensively employed. The argument advanced by Mr. Blackwell, of Boston, in conversation, the other day, that the expense of a campaign for equal suffrage is more tude of ailments. In all cases where the functions of the liver are interrupted or disturbed, and the bile, its constituent sethan the friends of the movement can afford is not a cogent one. No great disorder will follow. Dr. Henley's Dandelion Tonic will restore the liver to its natureform has ever lacked the means for carrying it out. When the public mind is prepared to accept the change there will be no difficulty in finding the means necessary to its execution, which cannot under fair conditions be very large. As for the expense of a vote of the people upon such a proposition, that is inconsiderable, for it would be taken (or

Helena, Oct. 7, 1887.

I was suffering from an unusually bad cough, my lungs were sore and congested, and I consulted one of the best physicians in Helena, whose prescriptions failed to relieve me. I became alarmed, and at the suggestion of a friend purchased a bottle of Acker's English Remedy for coughs, and after taking it according to directions was completely cured. I therefore cheerfully recommend it.
